the others being candidates for reelection.

Mr. Langworthy stated at Monday's session that he had received verbal information from General Manager Samuel Anderson in regard to the proposed trolley road turnout and extension in Railroad avenue and Canal street. The order for material was placed by the Norwich & Westerly Traction company as soon as the council granted permission for the improvement and the material was to have been delivered in Westerly, June 1. It has not arrived, but assurance has been given that it would be here by June 10. It is understood that the changes can be made and the work completed within two weeks.
When this work is finished the trolley company will be prepared to remove all tracks from Dixon square and Broad street, as ordered by the council. The trolley officials could not order the special rails for the new turnout until definite action was taken by the council and therefore are not responsible for the delay that will carry with it a disordered condition in Dixon square in the good old summer time,

Tree Warden Edward Gavitt sub-mitted an interesting report, which showed the great amount of work done in regard to the removal of dead trees and the trimming of low branches and at no expense to the town. The warden called attention to much more work of this class that should be done and suggested that funds be provided to carry on this needed improvement. The warden had removed over one The warden had removed over one bundred nests of browntail moths between White Rock and Watch Hill and reminded the council that this extermination devolved upon the individuals and the town, but that reputividuals and the federal average. resentatives of the federal government were endeavoring to put an end to the gypsy moths. The report was received and ordered on file and praise was bestowed on Mr. Gavitt for the voluntary service rendered and for his valuable report.

Councilman C. Clarence Maxson announced that the committee represent-ing the town in the construction of the town hall and court house, had completed its work and made final report to the financial town meeting and as the committee had completed its work, he asked for discharge It was voted to discharge the committee

The regular monthly meeting of the Vesterly town council was held Montay, but no really new business was ransacted by reason of the memors of the council of 1914-1916 being leuted today and the desire of the numbers of the present council to the new council town hall, stating that the building was now completely furnished and equipped, and therefore there was no further need for a special custodian. That work could be best done by the town clerk, who has office in the building, is always available and clothed with authority to procure supplies and guard the upseep of the structure. The resignation of Mr. Maxson was accepted and, on motion of Councilman Thomas he was given a vote of thanks for faithful and effia vote of thanks for faithful and effi-

A petition was received from Joseph S. Grills and others calling attention to the unsanitary condition of a lot on the west side of Canal street owned by Mrs. Penny and asking that the town "clean up the lot" in the interest of public health. It developed that the lot was used as a public dumping ground and with the evident consent of the owner, who should not be permitted to maintain such an unsanitary place. The matter was referred for action to Lewis Stanton, superintendent of health.

A. Vose, who claims damages to her property in Railroad avenue by reason of change in street grade, Town Solicitor Agard recommended that the matter be referred to a committee of three disinterested citizens to investigate the conditions and consult with the view of reaching and consult with the v Mrs. Vose with a view of reaching an agreement, if possible, and thereby avoid litigation. The council appointed as the committee Eugene B. Pendleton, Horace E. Burdick and Rich-ard Butler, with request that report be made to the council with the least Councilman Culley stated that the Mertha J. Crandell granite drinking fountain, presented to the town with the agreement that the town should care for the fountain and provide for its operation, had not been in working order for some time. He had consulted with the superintendent of the water works and was informed that the water board had nothing to do with the fountain and that it was up to the town to give it the required care the town to give it the required care and to have it in operation. The mat-ter was referred to the highway committee with instructions to consult with the water commissioners and come to some definite agreement.

Milk Inspector Breen reported that he had made the monthly examination of milk dealers and everything was found satisfactory.

Charles R. Johnson was granted a license to conduct a bowling alley in the old shore dinner house and John R. McArthur was granted a tayare. R. McArthur was granted a tavern license, and Frank Whitten a victual-ling license at Watch Hill. The application of Thomas B. The-cons for a victualling license at Broad and Union streets was referred to the next council.

The appropriation of $150 to Budlong post, G. A. R., and $25 to Bruck-er camp, U. S. W. V., was ordered paid, to meet the Memorial day ex-day's election.

True stories are occasionally re-lated of cats catching fishes, and ver-lfication was given to at least one of these stories in Westerly a couple of years ago. At a period when the law was on, a cat within the town of Westerly captured a large, live brook tron; and brought it home alive and flopping. That fish was placed in a pail of water and delivered to Charles W. Willard, president of the inland fish commission and was liberated in the artificial lake in Wilcox park and lived long and prospered.

Now comes the true story of a fish capturing a live bird in that same lake. Monday morning a young robin, evidently mistaking some floating leaves for terra firma, alighted and with sufficient force to get the feathwith sufficient force to get the feathers thoroughly water-soaked. The bird was struggling along the water surface attempting to fly, when a big voracious black bass came along and gobbled the bird with as much apparent eas as if it were a striped perch fingerling. The fact of the bird catching the fish was witnessed by three men whose reputation for vera-city is beyond question, Soon thereafter another bird skimming close to the surface of the water was followed by a black bass and when the bird alighted on the walk that surrounds the lake the nose of that bass was against the concrete wall of the lake.

The annual election for town officers which will be held in Westerly today, will be a formality, as it is generally predicted that only the republican nominees will be elected. There is no evidence of interest in the election and a large vote is the election and a large vote is not expected. The democrats have made no nominations except for members

Saturday afternoon about 4 o'clock the alarm for fire roused the few peo-ple in the village who had not gone ple in the village who had not gone out for the day and in spite of the strenuous work the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Palmer of Elm street was entirely destroyed. The fire was supposed to have been the work of children playing in the woodshed several feet away, as the blaze started in one corner. At the time the alarm was rung in there were only four of the regular fire company in the village and not many men able to fight a fire, as the racing at Poquonnock a fire, as the racing at Poquonnock driving park had taken many away. The engine was taken to the spot and a streum from nearby wells thrown on the blaze. When this waver was exhausted it was necessary to secure the rest from the cove and to do this the old hose was used. This burst several times. The neighboring house of Ellison Carroll caught several times, but was kept from burning. All the household goods were removed but it was impossible to save the house. This was insured for $1,200.
